French Icarian Village
Corning Iowa

What is America's French Icarian Village?

The Village is a living history museum being developed on 34 acres of original Icaria land in southwest Iowa. At the heart of the development is the restored Icaria Cemetery, the 1878 refectory and the 1860 one-room school.

The Village interprets the history of six Icaria Colonies in America that were part of a social experiment began in France in the 1840s with colonies in Texas, Louisiana, Illinois, Missouri, Iowa and California. The Iowa Icarian Colony located 3 miles east of Corning, was established in 1852 and disbanded in 1898, making it the longest-lived, non-religious communal experiment in American history.

The Village provides an Icarian experience that invites, educates and engages visitors.

Stanton, Iowa

The Swedish Heritage and Cultural Center is the oldest public building still in use in Montgomery County.

Stanton was developed from the Halland Settlement, established in the mid -1800's by the Reverend Bengt Magnus Halland, who acquired the land from the B&M Railroad. He wrote letters back to Sweden encouraging 'God-Fearing, non-drinking, hard-working Swedes' to come over and establish a real Swedish Settlement in the heartland of America.

The Swedish Heritage and Cultural Center, housed in an 1885 building, relates the history of the Swedish settlement with such artifacts as a handmade loom of the 1870's, original photographs, and a restored one-room schoolhouse, which was in use from 1875 until 1954.

Visitors to Stanton will find samples of local Swedish delicacies, such as spritz cookies, cheeses, breads, pickled herring and perhaps some pepparkakor or ostkaka with lingonberries dished up with small-town hospitality.

You may also want to drive by and see:

The Swedish Coffeepot water tower stands 125 feet high and can hold 40,000 gallons--640,000 cups. Stanton is also the birth place of Hollywood's Virginia Christine, the "Mrs. Olson" on Folgers Coffee television commercials.

The new Swedish Coffee Cup water tower was built in 2000. It is 96 feet tall and can hold 150,000 gallons--2,400,000 cups of coffee. It is located at the corner of Highland and Hilltop (South Hill).

Manning, Iowa

Welcome to Manning Heritage Park. Start your tour up the hill at the Trinity Church. The Church has had a “moving” experience and we’ll share the story. Thanks to a film crew from London, England, you will be able to share in the move.

Discover the German Hausbarn or bauernhaus as it would be called in Germany. Ours was first built in 1660 and reconstructed in Manning in 1999. Share our surprises and our joys as we tell the story of its journey.

Finally, visit the Leet/Hassler farmstead, which is on the National Register of Historic places. You will be able to wander all over the farmstead and hear stories of the first owners and how it lasted almost 100 years.

Manning's settlers were mostly natives of Schleswig-Holstein, Germany, and Hannover, Germany. According to a local church history book, these first pioneers were so delighted with the fertile soil present in the Manning area that they soon wrote to their relatives and friends in Germany to come to America.

Lunches at the Hausbarn are served by the "church" ladies and they usually include sandwiches, salads and dessert in the summer season. In winter, we sometimes go with hot dishes. Pickled beets, sauerkraut salad, egg salad, German chocolate cake, Beer and Sauerkraut Fudge Cupcakes with Beer frosting are some of the delights you might savor.

If you have special needs or requests, we honor those. And if the weather is nice, you might get a picnic outside in the grove.

You can count on us for hearty fare as the Germans worked hard and cooked generously.

No Tour would be complete without a stop in the Schön Herzen Gift Shop.
